Second murder trial now looms

By AL POST
MCN Staff Writer

A 10-year-old gangland style double murder returned to court last week, as a convicted murderer testified a former friend (arrested last month) actually did the killings in Romulus.

The state prison inmate Robert Williams, formerly of Taylor, also testified that the new accused killer, Mark Sennett of Southgate, had purchased a 9mm handgun on credit back in 1985 and hours later shot and killed the two male victims, including the former gun owner.

The testimony against 39-year-old Sennett was offered by Williams, also 39, who is now spending a life term in prison after being convicted of killing the same two men as they sat in a parked car on California Street in Romulus back on April 6, 1985.

Williams was convicted of two first degree murder charges a decade ago and a felony firearm rap.

The victims were Van Hooper, 25 years of age when he died, and David Stanley, then 27. Both victims lived in Taylor at the time of their murders.

The Michigan Appeals Court ordered last year that Williams should be given a new trial, since he was not offered his Miranda rights early enough in the murder probe back in 1985.

Instead of a new trial, Williams reportedly has agreed to plead guilty to second degree murder and be given credit for the time he has served. The felony firearms charge reportedly would be dismissed, but the Wayne County Prosecutor's office said all this would be contingent upon Williams testifying against Sennett in the upcoming murder trial.

Little emotion was displayed between the two former friends, as Williams testified against Sennett before 34th District Court Judge Tina Green.

Williams more than hour-long testimony detailed the various travels he and Sennett had taken that fateful night back in 1985.

He told Green that Hooper had agreed to sell the 9 mm gun to Sennett only hours before the double murder. Williams said he witnessed Sennett shoot the two men to death and then drove the gunman from the scene in Romulus.

Since he was the last one known to have possession of the gun, Williams said, he talked Sennett into disposing of it shortly after the killings. Williams said he himself threw the weapon into the Detroit River. The gun was never recovered.

Williams said he also convinced Sennett, he should take a shower and discard his clothes and the cowboy boots he was wearing at the time of the shootings.

Sennett agreed to shower and tossed his clothes into a dumpster outside a bar they visited that night. He later threw his boots out the car window as they were driving around.

Williams was asked why he told Sennett to take such actions.

Williams related, "I told him police might find traces of blood or gun powder residue on them."

The defense attorney asked, "Where did you learn of such a possibility?"

Williams answered matter-of-factly, "Oh, I've seen it on TV several times!"

Williams later was asked, "Have you ever had a job?"

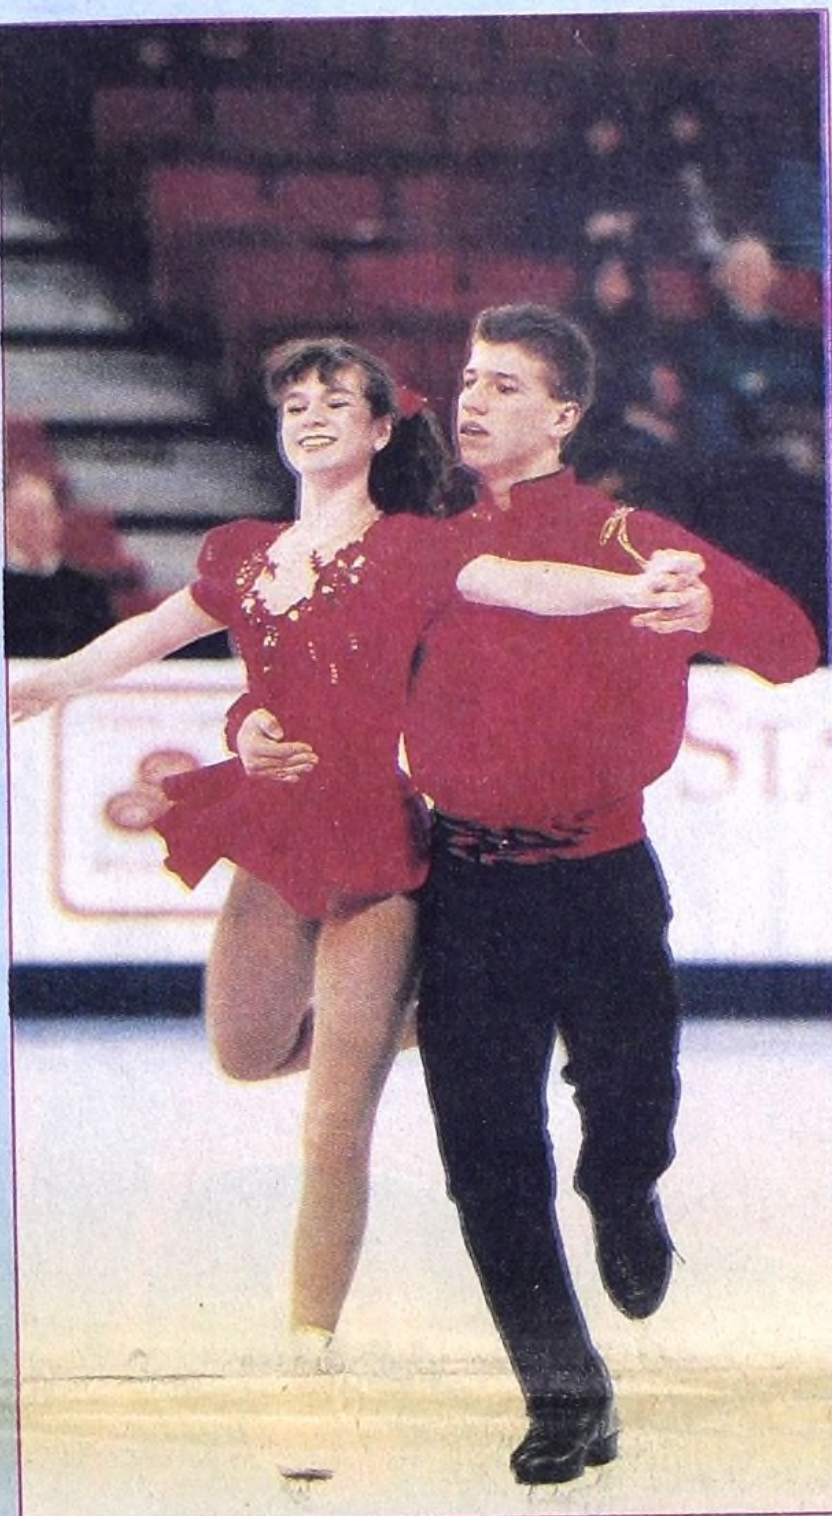

He said, "Oh yeah, I worked in construction for two years back in 1980-81."

He then was asked further, "Is that the only job you ever had?"

Williams answered, "No, I worked for two months a year or two later."

Romulus Detective Sgt. Michael Ondejko reported both victims were shot in the head and body about nine times each. The bodies were not discovered until the following evening, since both men fell onto the seat of the car after being shot and the street the car was parked on was not well traveled.

Green bound the case against Sennett over to the Frank Murphy Hall of Justice for a hearing on Oct. 11.

Voters to decide on library union

By AL POST
MCN Staff Writer

Romulus voters will be given a chance next year to decide whether the Romulus Public Library will join the planned Wayne County District Library.

Doug Whittaker, Wayne County's head librarian, said it was hoped that all 23 communities that could join the new federation would have decided by now.

But it has been a slow process, since he has started to personally visit each governing body to explain the impact of the new library union.

The Romulus Council thus became the fifth of the communities to support the new library district concept and allow it to go to the voters next year. The council voted 6-0 with Mayor pro tem Mary Ann Banks absent.

Romulus head librarian Diane Hazen also was in attendance to support the Romulus entry into the new district.

Whittaker told the city council that the Romulus Public Library is now open only 38 hours a week rather than the needed 50 hours.

The turnover time for library books, etc. should be every 12 years, but in Romulus it takes place every 27 years, Whittaker said.

While Romulus became the fifth community to support the new library district concept, Whittaker said, 11 other towns are currently studying the issue. He was extremely pleased with the Romulus council's support, Whittaker said, as he felt many would follow Romulus's lead since they are respected by their peers.

Whittaker expects that the library issue will be voted upon in August 1996.

Four other communities have voted to develop independent libraries, including Wayne, Westland, Redford and Flat Rock.

But even those libraries will probably develop special pacts with the new district, he said.

In an advanced letter to the council, city Treasurer James Napiorkowski stated, "Once the district is formed, its board will need time to work out the details with the communities participating, for lease agree-

White student flight is feared, if law changes

By AL POST
MCN Staff Writer

Many white students will flee from Romulus schools to the Huron School District or other suburban schools if the state legislature passes a bill to allow youth to attend the school of their choice, Romulus Superintendent Dr. William Bedell warned the Michigan House Education Committee last week.

Bedell, speaking in emotional terms, told the state representatives that the Romulus School District will file a federal suit to block such action, if the school of choice concept is approved by both the House of Representatives and Senate and signed into law by Gov. John Engler.

No action on the bill was taken that day (Sept. 26), but Bedell also warned that Romulus would file civil rights violation charges on the Michigan level if the bill becomes law.

Bedell and Romulus School Board trustees have been at war with the Engler administration, since the days when Romulus was considered "out of formula."

The superintendent said he expects numerous multi-racial districts to lose many of their white students to neighboring schools, if the district borders are forced open.

"If you folks pass this legislation, we will lose massive numbers of white children and we will be able to demonstrate it. We have watched this happen before," Bedell said.

When Romulus was listed as an "out of formula" school district, a number of white students' parents asked permission to switch their children to Huron Schools. Permission was granted at that time by Romulus Schools.

Now the loss of such students is devastating financially to a school district, because of Proposal A reforms.

Dr. William Bedell

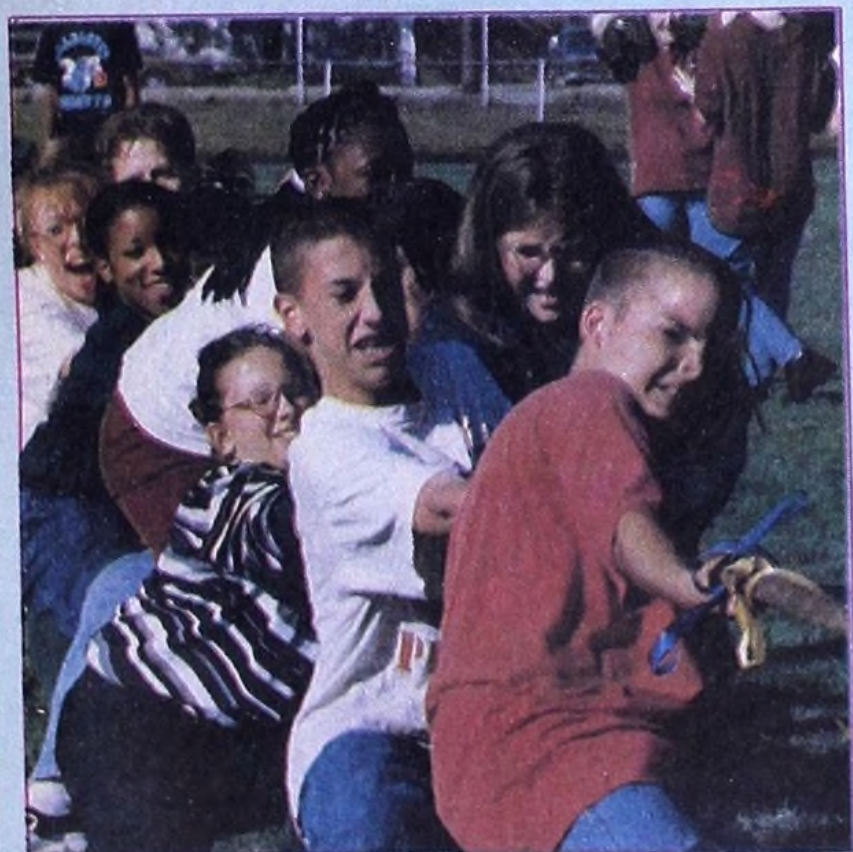

Assistant Romulus Superintendent Joel Carr said he knows for a fact that if the district doors are thrown wide open, many current Inkster students would opt to go to schools in Romulus.

Education Committee Chairman Rep. William Bryant (R-Grosse Pointe Farms) countered Bedell by saying he did not think that school of choice changes would create racial segregation problems in Michigan.

"We are already underfunded by the state," Bedell said, "since school money comes from the income tax. We get little more than we did before in this boom year of sales, he said. What will schools do when sales are down statewide and the state has little to disperse to any school district?"

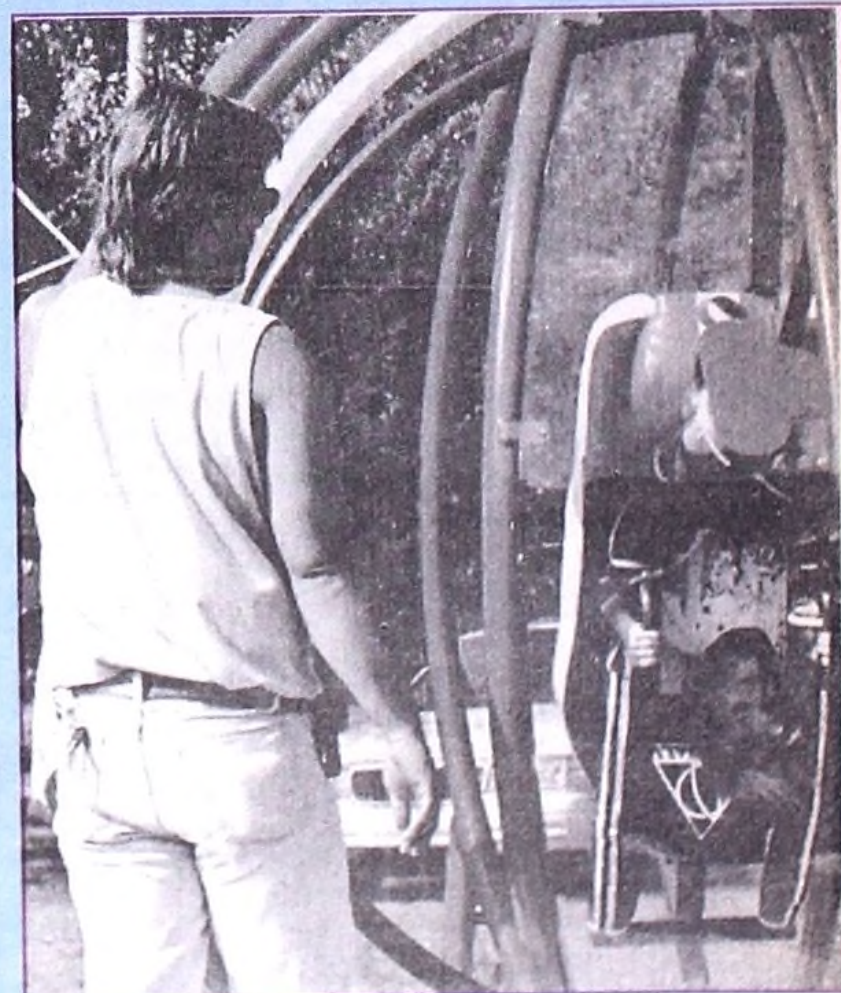

In addition Bedell warned school bonding issues will suffer badly, "because if your children are going to out-of-town schools, why would you vote to support any local school district building upgrades?"

Offering students a choice of school districts may sound like a valid opportunity, Bedell said, but as usual our state leaders are not thinking the issue through enough."

Talks continue

$850 million Wayne County airport complex proposed

By AL POST
MCN Staff Writer

Talks that could lead to the construction of a $850 million Wayne County Airport complex are under discussion by the county and Northwest Airlines.

Wayne County Executive Edward McNamara has been pushing for a massive new terminal concept in the Romulus-based airport that could cost up to $850 million, while Northwest officials have been talking of a much less expensive facility.

The talks will center on a terminal that would be constructed south of the existing passenger terminals. It is hoped by Wayne County officials that an agreement can be reached before New Year's Day.

"I was advised by Northwest Executive Vice President Don Washburn that the airline's board voted to authorize senior management to enter into discussions with the county to secure improvements to accommodate their airlines's long term needs," McNamara said.

"Negotiations will consider both expansion and modernization with a focus on finding ways to finance and develop a new midfield terminal. We are pleased to continue our partnership with Northwest in making Metro Airport more customer friendly," the county executive stated.

Metro Airport is Northwest

We need more international gates in Detroit right now...

Airlines major hub airport, with Northwest serving 70.8 percent of the boarding passengers and 60 percent of the gates at the airport.

McNamara admits that "there is much to be done before a (ceremonial) shovel hits the ground. Our objective is to negotiate cooperatively with Northwest to design a financial strategy and develop an efficient, convenient and cost-effective terminal complex."

McNamara urged those in attendance at the news conference not to confuse Metro Airport's plans with those of the new Denver Airport that was continually plagued with construction delays and cost overruns before it opened.

Metro Airport's existing terminal complex has experienced 23 consecutive months of record-breaking passenger traffic, McNamara related.

Northwest alone handled a 74 percent increase in arriving international passengers in the last 12 months, he said. Metro Airport in 1993 passed Minneapolis/St. Paul Airport and Boston's Logan Airport in total passengers served.

McNamara also stated that the Geneva-based Airports Council International, worldwide passenger traffic increased six percent the first six months of this year and 4.9 percent throughout North America.

Metro Airport at the same time showed an even more substantial 10.9 percent hike, McNamara said proudly.

Nearly $500 million has been spent on capital improvements at Metro Airport since 1987, with such major projects as a new crosswind runway, a runway extension to accommodate long-haul international flights, property acquisition for a fourth parallel runway, a new control tower, new parking deck and a new south access road under construction.

But despite all this work, McNamara revealed local roadways, curb fronts, baggage claim areas and passenger hold rooms remain congested.

"We need more international gates in Detroit right now and we have our eye on several exciting new international destinations in the near future," Washburn said.

Metro Airport now provides non-stop service to more than 100 destinations worldwide and Northwest launches more than 350 daily flights from here, McNamara said.

Women arraigned on vehicular homicide

The two women accused of the high-speed pursuit of Crystal Deyampert, the 22-year-old Inkster woman killed after her car slammed into a tractor-trail, were arraigned Sept. 26 on vehicular homicide charges.

Nicole Gibson, 21, and Wendy Smith, 23, will face an Oct. 5 preliminary exam after two not guilty pleas were entered on their behalf by Judge C. Charles Bokos of the 18th District Court in Westland. The two women were arrested following the Sept. 19 death of Deyampert at the intersection of Inkster and Van Born Roads in Westland.

The two Inkster residents are also accused of leaving the scene of a personal injury accident after chasing Deyampert more than two and one half miles down Inkster Road at speeds up to 80 mph. According to police, the chase ensued after Deyampert and a friend were involved in a verbal altercation outside the Side Pocket bar on Inkster Road and Cherry Hill.

Allegedly Deyampert and the passenger of her 1995 Toyota Camry, Sharon Edwards, were leaving the bar when Gibson and Smith began pursuing them down Inkster, possibly fearing for her safety, Deyampert ran a red traffic signal at Inkster and Van Born and collided with a double trailer truck going westbound through the intersection.

Deyampert's body was thrown from the vehicle after impact. Edwards suffered a broken jaw and several internal injuries but was subsequently released from University of Michigan in Ann Arbor.

Gibson was released from custody on a $10,000 personal bond following the arraignment, yet Smith was issued a $50,000 cash bond as she was determined to be the driver of the car. The women could face up to 15 years in prison on vehicular homicide charges and five years for fleeing the scene of a personal injury accident.

Person of year
being sought

The hunt has begun for the 16th annual Romulus Person of the Year by the Greater Romulus Chamber of Commerce.

The only criteria for the nominee is he or she needs to be someone who has made a significant contribution to the community, President David Paul revealed.

Nomination forms can be obtained by calling the chamber office at 326-4290.

The deadline for nominations to be submitted is Dec. 1, Paul said.

Panos reported on medical leave

City Department of Public Works Director James Panos is now reportedly on medical leave, Mayor Beverly McAnally acknowledged last Friday.

Panos earlier had been on vacation, while rumors abounded about the city that he had left his position here. DPW workers reportedly are deeply split on who they favor in the upcoming mayoral election and that factor reportedly has fueled the rumor mill.

Dad, daughter dance planned

The annual Daddy-Daughter Sweetheart Dance is slated for Romulus Middle School from 6:30 to 8:30 p.m. on Oct. 11.

The cost is $7 and it furnishes a flower, a memorable photo of the two, music and refreshments. Add another $2 for additional children.

Tickets purchased after Oct. 10 will rise to $9. Tickets are available at the city's Recreation Department.

Pumpkin painting
slated Oct. 25

Romulus children are being invited to an annual pumpkin painting party at Wick Elementary School beginning at 6:30 p.m. Oct. 25.

Tickets for the event at $3 per child. Children must bring a clean pumpkin to paint. They will be offered a magic show, story telling, ghostly-ghostly games and light refreshments.

Workshop planned by abstinence unit

A public workshop on how to initiate abstinence groups in Romulus will be offered from 1:30 to 4 p.m. Oct. 12 at Romulus High School.

The workshop will be conducted by Shelly Schadewald, project coordinator of the Michigan Abstinence Partnership program of the state health department.

The workshop is offered to the public free of charge.

Holiday Bazaar
slated Oct. 20

The annual holiday bazaar sponsored by the Community United Methodist Church will begin at 10 a.m. Oct. 20.

Holiday craft and other items will be sold at the church, located at Bibbins and Olive, until 3 p.m.

Napiorkowski estimated that the library transition period will take a little more than one year.

The Romulus treasurer said, "I have had the opportunity to see the history of many of the communities' library budgets and I can say for a fact that I have not seen a single community where the (library) budgets kept up with the rate of inflation."

Because of that Napiorkowski said he would have to feel that the quality and quantity of materials and facilities have deteriorated over the years.

Ironically the Romulus Library recently completed a major remodeling effort.

Romulus man arrested in Brownstown murder

By AL POST
MCN Staff Writer

A 20-year-old Romulus man was arrested recently for shooting a Southgate resident to death following an argument in a Southgate bar with his own father, Brownstown Township police said.

Charged with murder and a felony firearm violation were Jerry A. Metcalf Jr. of Romulus and Jonathon D. Sylvester, 20, of New Boston.

Both men were arraigned in Woodhaven's 33rd District Court on Sept. 19. Judge Donald Swank refused bond for Metcalf and set a $100,000 cash bond for Sylvester. Both men are currently in the Wayne County Jail.

The pair were arrested

Sept. 17 in Brownstown Township following a high speed chase that ended at Huron High School.

A tracking dog was called in shortly after police heard a shooting death had occurred and they searched the area near Rancho Road between Pennsylvania and Sibley roads.

A short time later they found the body of Russell A. Danko, 21, of Southgate, who had been shot four times, three times in the front torso area and once in the back, police said.

Police Chief Dan Grant said the shot in the back pierced one of Mr. Danko's arteries and he ultimately bled to death.

Police speculate that Metcalf shot Danko, after he refused to return to a Southgate bar where Metcalf earlier had an argument with his own father and friends.

The chief discounted claims that the shooting might have been sparked by possession of a leather jacket or the attentions of a woman.

According to police the younger Metcalf and Danko had been in the bar earlier and an argument developed between Metcalf and his father. Then Metcalf reportedly began to berate his father's friends and Metcalf was asked to leave the bar.

Grant said police recovered the expensive, but unregistered, handgun along the side of the road.

New steel plant to add 150 jobs

By AL POST
MCN Staff Writer

More than 150 new jobs are expected to be created by a planned new venture in Romulus between Shiloh Industries and Rouge Steel.

State Rep. Greg Pitoniak (D-Taylor) said the job plan earned a $5.6 million tax credit from the Michigan Economic Growth Authority (MEGA) Board.

The Single Business Tax and income tax credits will aid the two companies open a new $17 million facility within Romulus, Pitoniak said. The plant will produce engineered steel blanks under the name Shiloh of Michigan Inc.

It is estimated the plant will create 153 direct jobs and a projected 224 spin-off jobs.

Shiloh Industries, an Ohio based company, has invested $30 million in this joint venture, Pitoniak said, and plans to break ground next month and have the plant fully operational in three years.

"This is an important project for Romulus, because it will show companies interested in doing business in Michigan that we have what it takes to attract good paying, skilled jobs," Pitoniak said.

MEGA was created in April to help promote high quality job creation in Michigan. The tax credits program in MEGA is used to encourage businesses from both within and outside the state to expand and relocate in Michigan.

Up to 25 projects may be chosen for such approval by the MEGA board each year, Pitoniak said.

Council asks county to keep promises

By AL POST
MCN Staff Writer

City officials voted Monday night to increase their pressure on Wayne County and Detroit Metro Airport officials in relation to the long promised but stalled property buy outs and building soundproofing efforts.

Councilmen William Wadsworth and Michael Prybyla supported by three council peers voted to support a resolution demanding quick resolution of the 1992 county promises that homes and other key buildings near certain sections of the airport would be soundproofed.

The resolution also demanded response to airport buy out promises for those properties that are in line of the planned fourth parallel runway.

Mayor Beverly McAnally asked that new county, state and national elected officials, including Congresswoman Lynn Rivers, be urged to use their collective clout on behalf of Romulus citizens impacted by airport growth problems.

Councilman Jimmie Raspberry also urged that Wayne County officials be called to a Romulus-based forum on airport expansion issues. That forum should include any officials that Romulus voters helped elect, Raspberry said.

Curriculum chief
hunt has begun

By AL POST
MCN Staff Writer

With the hunt for a personnel director for Romulus School District nearing the interview stage, Assistant Superintendent Joel Carr said that the district is now advertising for a curriculum director.

The two job positions were created following the departure of Assistant Superintendent Dr. Terrel LeCesne, who now serves as the superintendent of the Inkster School District. LeCesne filled both responsibilities during his tenure in Romulus.

Carr revealed the salary range for the 12-month a year post will be from $80,000 to $92,000 with health and insurance benefits also available.

With the filing deadline set for Oct. 12, Carr lists the following qualifications needed for applicants: Masters in Arts degree from an accredited university, computer literacy, creative and innovative talents as an educational leader, skills in developing and implementing a top curricular program, proficiency in writing and administering grants and skills in evaluating an instructional program and professional staff.

The job vacancy offer lists 16 performance responsibilities. The top five are: being a leader in formulation, implementation and redefining of the district philosophy and objectives; working cooperatively with the buildings, principals and business office to prepare and administer an instructional budget; leading the professional staff in the implementation of the Romulus curricular goals by using appropriate materials and instructional technology; assisting in the recruitment, screening, hiring and in service training of professional and auxiliary staff; and facilitating the school improvement process.

Superintendent Dr. William Bedell said the district hopes to fill the position as soon as possible. Currently both job responsibilities are being handled by Bedell, Carr and Art McPharlin, administrative assistant to Bedell.

Garbage pickup times to be aired

By AL POST
MCN Staff Writer

The Romulus City Council has put off until Oct. 23 any discussion on limiting the time residents can place garbage out for collection.

The pending action is being asked by Mayor pro tem Mary Ann Banks, who said she received several phone calls concerning the placement of trash receptacles on the street line and the removal of such.

Banks said that Ordinance Officer Steve Banko "has received numerous complaints regarding trash receptacles and has been unable to enforce placement or removal of trash containers because of a lack of specific wording in the ordinance."

Banks said she supports a system similar to that used in Dearborn Heights in which a placement of garbage receptacles can not occur until 4 p.m. or after the day before collections and removal of the empty trash containers by no later than 6 p.m. of the day of pickup.

City Attorney Barry Seifman was asked if the times could be deleted and just a 24-hour period be inserted instead. Seifman said such an ordinance would be difficult to be enforced.

The council instead asked that a discussion be conducted at the meeting of Oct. 23 prior to the introduction of such an ordinance request.

Council probe asked

By AL POST
MCN Staff Writer

Royal Lilly, one of the most vocal anti-injection well critics, Monday night asked for a city probe of whether any Environmental Disposal Systems employees worked for three hours as poll helpers for any council candidates during Primary Day 1995.

Lilly had first asked if the new city ethics code had taken effect yet. Acting Mayor pro tem Randolph Gear reported that it had.

Reading from that new code, Lilly said the investigation now rests with the city council, city attorney and mayor.

Later the council was asked to poll itself to see if any councilman had used any EDS official on primary election day.

Councilmen William Wadsworth, Ellis Pennington and Michael Prybyla claimed they didn't use any such EDS personnel.

Councilman Jimmie Raspberry stated he didn't have to answer the question.

Alumni game added to homecoming week

By AL POST
MCN Staff Writer

This month's annual Romulus High School Homecoming Week will add a nighttime alumni baseball game to its agenda, alumni coordinator Marge Bergman reported last Friday.

The game will be played on Oct. 11 at the school's new baseball facility behind the school on Wayne Road in Romulus and will be under the lights.

"This will be a new experience for most former athletes," Bergman said, "as the lights were first used at the end of last year's baseball season. To keep a fair balance on the teams, she said, players from odd years will challenge players from even years."

To protect everyone, Bergman said, a pitching machine will be used.

Players will be charged an entry fee of $20 and will receive refreshments and a specially designed alumni baseball T-shirt.

On hand that night will be former Eagle coaches Lowell Johnson and Dennis Stoh, as well as present coach Don Foley.

The public is being invited to view the game and adequate vehicle parking areas are available.

All players need to be registered. To do so call Bergman at 941-2170, Extension 149 or Foley at Extension 207.

Western Wayne residents overwhelmingly believe O.J. Simpson is GUILTY, despite the verdict of the Los Angeles jury. In addition, residents we surveyed think the criminal justice system needs overhauling. These conclusions were made after a sampling of residents voiced their opinions to an MCN commissioned telephone interviewer earlier this week.

Mike's musings

Mike Wilcox

Is this a surprise to anyone? I think not! Although many of the people we called think Johnny Cochran did an exceptional job defending O.J. (whatever happened to Robert Shapiro and F. Lee Bailey), most conclude the circumstantial evidence clearly pointed to O.J.

I find the second conclusion to be the more interesting. Most people surveyed were dissatisfied with our system of criminal justice. The length of the trial as well as the minute details drove most people to boredom.

I can only concur. I believe Judge Ito in an effort to exhibit total fairness to both the prosecution and defense went overboard in the beginning by allowing Cochran and company, and Clark and friends, to run rampant in the courtroom. It has only been in the last few months that Ito has put his gavel down and demanded that lawyers respect his authority. If Ito would have been more demanding and limiting to the length and breadth of prosecution and defense arguments, this trial could have been over six months ago.

If I were a juror charged with deciding this case, I would have mentally exploded months ago. You can only beat a good horse to death so many times, and every detail of these murders has been talked about over and over. I can't imagine a single juror waiting this long to make up his mind. Most people had penned guilt or innocence on O.J. before this trial started.

And this deal about keeping the jury sequestered. Can that possibly work? Can these people be sheltered from the incredible publicity generated by the trial? I think not. It is time to review the sequestering procedures. We are in the midst of the information age and it is naive to think, or even expect that jurors can be sheltered from the biggest news story ever.

Wholesale condemnation of our criminal justice system has got to be a concern of judges, lawyers and lawmakers. For the first time, thanks to television, the great majority of the American population was treated to a system that already had its fair share of critics. Here are some of the comments our pollster garnered:

This is a sad chapter in American history. All the jokes demeaning lawyers now seem to be true. This is a case of dollars winning out over justice. The system needs to be changed so that incidents like this won't happen again. If O.J. was poor, this never would have turned into a media spectacle.

If you are rich enough, you can tie the justice system up as long as you want. The jury did a great job by returning the verdict so quick.

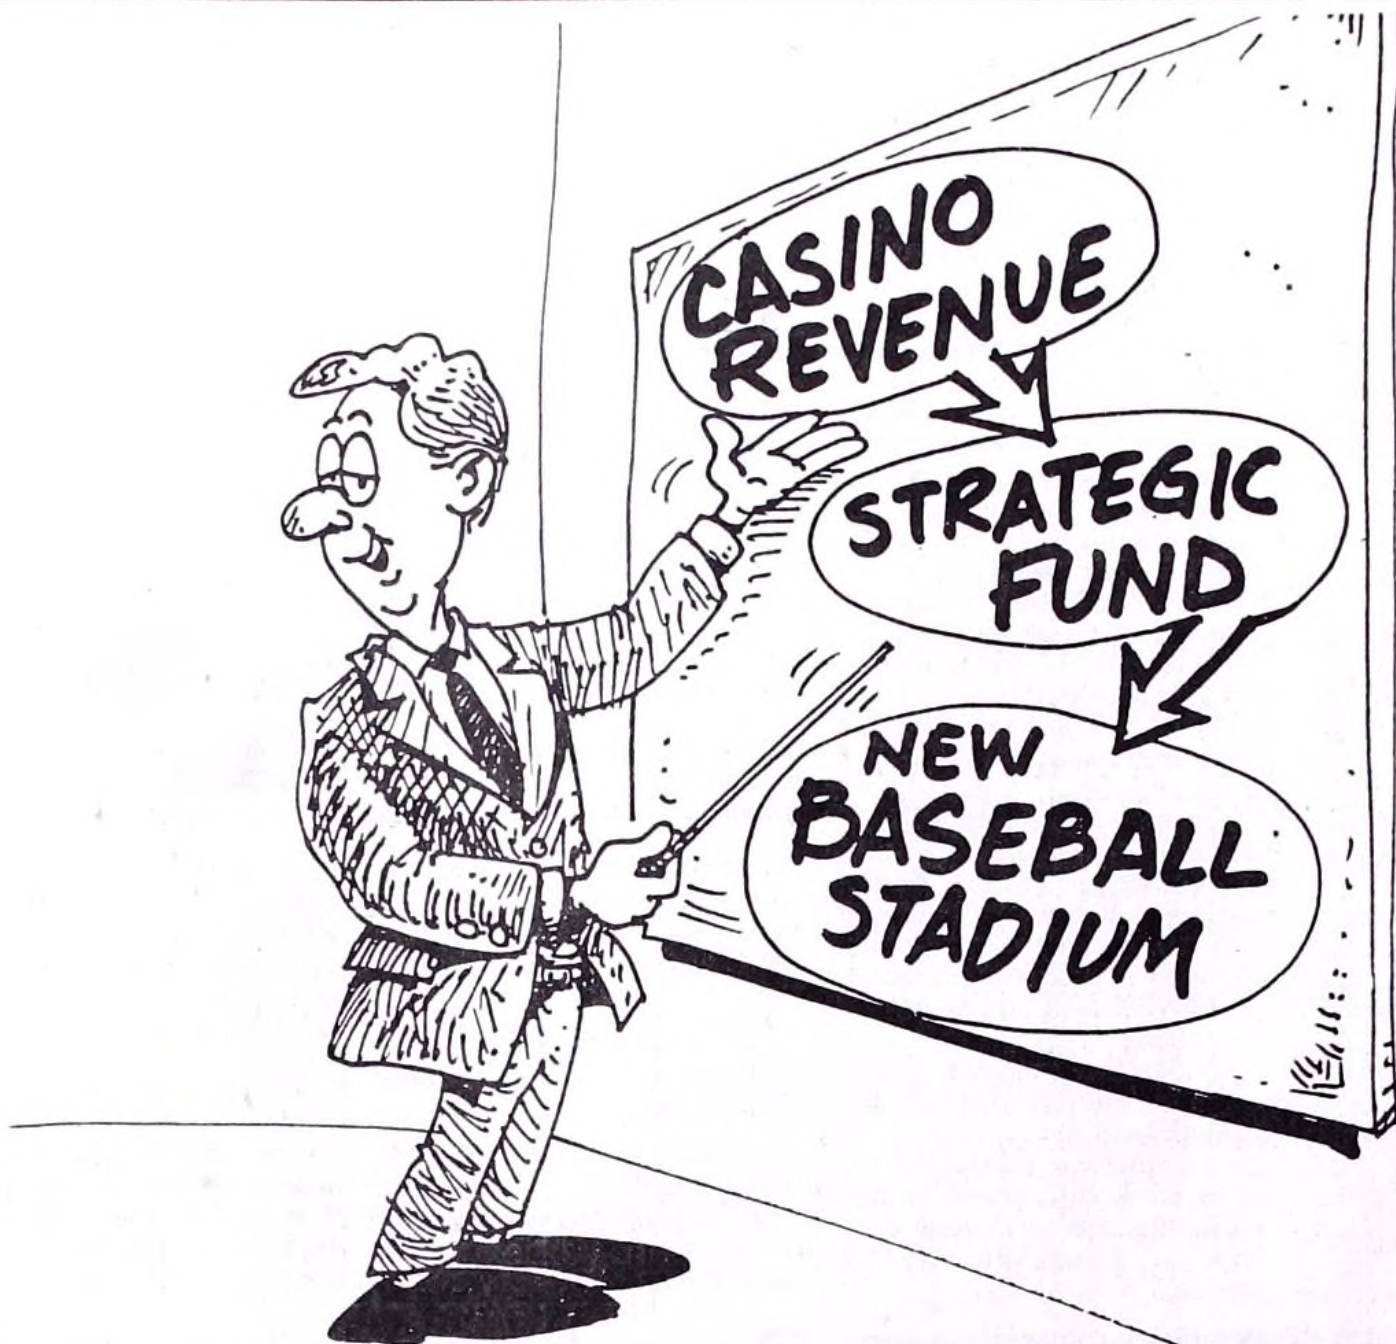

If O.J. is not guilty, I have lost all faith in the system.

It appears the judge and lawyers were more interested in stardom and were making it off of the hardship of the victims. The trial should have been an educational tool for the average American who doesn't get to see the proceedings of a murder trial. Instead it was a circus.

In case you were wondering, the result of our phone poll was 64 percent believed O.J. was guilty and 30 percent agreed with the jury. Six percent of the people we surveyed were undecided.

For the rest of us, life is never going to be the same. The real courtroom drama hooked millions of Americans who often chose watching the court action on television over any other activity. We all became well-versed in the inner workings of a courtroom. We shared opinions on the degree on ineptitude we felt existed. Readers indicated in our survey that there will be many changes to come, and I for one, agree that courtroom reform is long overdue.

This trial might not have served up the justice many of us were looking for, however it did serve to bring in to crystal-clear focus the need to reform the system.

Taxi driver thanked

To the editor:

We had the good fortune to receive the kind and intelligent assistance of a Belleville company whose support and thoughtfulness we want to acknowledge publicly.

Driving to Detroit Metro Airport on I-94 four days ago a tire in my car blew out. How to cope? It was terribly important that I not miss that plane; I limped into Belleville and called a cab. Fortunately I called Belvil Taxi and was given wonderful support. Mary O'Kelly came racing over to get me to my plane on time (I did make it!); she offered to arrange for the repair of my car so that I would be able to drive it back to Ann Arbor upon my return.

When I did return the very next day I learned that Rae Thom, the owner of Belvil Taxi, had picked up my crippled car where I had left it, had searched for a proper tire to replace the bad one, had finally found one, had it installed, and had the car waiting for me - his charges for these services being extremely reasonable.

I heaved a sigh of thankfulness and relief as I drove home. Some folks are as good as they are smart - and you just have to hope that you fall into hands like those when you are in need. I did, in Belleville, and I thought your readers

Westland mayor praised

To the editor:

I am writing to express my pleasure with Mayor Robert Thomas as a person and as mayor of the city of Westland.

Mayor Thomas is a warm, friendly person who is genuinely interested in his citizens as people and friends. He knows so many of them by name and always greets them with warmth and affection. Actively listening to what they say is something that he does well and his responses are kind; sometimes funny, and always show clear thought.

Services here in Westland are excellent. Our streets are swept and cleaned on a regular basis and snow and ice are removed promptly. It is comforting to see how often police ride through our area with smiles and hearty waves.

Mayor Thomas, I thank you for being my friend and mayor. I "salute" you and have written a little poem in your honor.

We have a mayor who is good and kind, who has improving the City on his mind. He works real hard to find solutions from helping businesses to eradicating pollutions.

Thank you, Mayor Thomas, for being you. May God bless you as you carry through.

Doves get reprieve

To the editor:

I would first like to thank state Representative Mick Middaugh for saving millions of doves by allowing the bill that would have legalized dove hunting in Michigan - S.B. 529 - to die in committee. It restores my faith in the democratic system to see a representative vote according to the wishes of the majority of Michigan residents, rather than allowing himself to be intimidated by the likes of special interest groups, such as the National Rifle Association and the Michigan United Conservation Clubs. Both groups were adamantly in favor of this bill and used their enormous financial status as a backing while lobbying for its passage. It's too bad that legislators will often allow the financial backing of special interests to sway their decisions. It's wonderful to see this isn't the case of Rep. Middaugh.

Most of all, thanks to the many dedicated people who contacted Rep. Middaugh and let him know how strongly they were against this bill. As he said in a press release dated Sept. 22, "Many interest groups have been involved in lobbying the legislature, but the people of Michigan, who overwhelmingly said no to dove hunting, are the ones who influenced the final decision."

The mourning doves in Michigan are safe, at least for now. Let's remember the power of public outcry the next time a bill like this is introduced.

Congratulations Representative Middaugh, for a job well done!

Gap widens in education

To the editor:
The gap between the real needs of schoolchildren and the rhetoric of the state government power brokers is as wide as the Grand Canyon.

Businesses complain that they can not find new graduates with basic skills and parents worry that their children will not be prepared to perform a decent-paying job.

Ignoring these real concerns, Governor Engler and his hand-picked State Board of Education propose to repeal student achievement standards, eliminate basic required courses, and rush to convert schools into profit-producers for private corporations.

To whom are they listening? Certainly not the parents, teachers, students and businesses looking for improved education.

Do our schools need to do better? Of course. And there are many good ideas for school improvement. Clear learning goals. Broader teacher testing. School-to-work programs. Smaller classes. new technologies.

These ideas deserve attention from state government. But Governor Engler and the other extremists now in power seem determined to move in the reverse direction, to destroy public schools rather than improve them. They are not true conservatives but rather are social engineers masquerading as conservatives.

The public is entitled to better and so are our children.

Consolidation saves money

To the editor:
Consolidation of several school districts could save taxpayers significant amounts of tax dollars in Michigan. Those in Lansing pretending to be your state representatives refuse to recognize the value of this proposal.

Consolidation could become a progressive reform aimed at enriching the curriculum by introducing technology at reduced cost, eliminating duplication in services, and promoting efficiency in management.

Within a few years, millages will be restored to their original levels prior to the cuts promised in Proposal A if this trend is allowed to continue. Our tax base will be destroyed when homeowners and senior citizens flee to other states to escape from the tide of wild spending by tax and spend hornswogglers who are determined to undermine tax reform in our state. Who do they think they are fooling?

Sound-Off Response to trial sought

Opinions of readers are being sought regarding the verdict reached in the O.J. Simpson trial.

On Tuesday, the Los Angeles jury found Simpson not guilty of the murder of Nicole Brown Simpson, his ex-wife, and of Ronald Goldman, her friend. If the jurors had found him guilty, they would have had a choice of first- or second-degree murder.

Individuals who have comments to make about the verdict may send a letter to the editor, Michigan Community Newspapers, 35540 Michigan Ave., Wayne, Mich. 48184, or call the Sound-Off line at 729-4006 between 5 p.m. and 8 a.m.

Callers are asked to comment on one or more of the following questions:

If you had been a juror, what would your vote have been?

Do you think charges of racism influenced the jury in its decision?

Do you believe a guilty verdict would have prompted civil disturbances? And, do you think this possibility influenced the jury?

After the year-long trial, do you think the presence of television cameras was a positive or negative factor in the case?

Do you favor the presence of television cameras in Michigan courtrooms?

Individuals who call the Sound-Off 729-4006 line should speak clearly and make their comments brief and concise. Lengthy responses can be made by writing a letter to the editor.

New stadium to be privately financed

The Michigan Strategic Fund Board today approved a resolution allowing the Detroit Downtown Development Authority (DDA) to use up to $55 million in Indian casino revenues to assist with public infrastructure improvements and land assembly for the city's new Tiger Stadium Baseball Club.

"Using Indian casino dollars to pay for road and land improvements guarantees that Michigan taxpayers' dollars will not be used for Tiger Stadium," said Doug Rothwell, CEO of the Michigan Jobs Commission. "Governor Engler indicated that he did not want taxpayer dollars used to build the stadium. Revenues from Indian casino gambling will help pay for road and land improvements."

The stadium will be privately financed by the Tigers at a cost of $135 to $155 million. In addition to the state commitment, $35 million in bonds by the Detroit DDA will assist with other project improvements around the stadium.

Utility has plans for solar energy

Detroit Edison customers can plug into the sun and meet a portion of their electric energy needs from a solar electric generating facility the utility plans to build next year.

The company announced that residential customers will be able to sign up for a special two-year "Solar Currents" rate at an additional $6.59 on average for each 100 watts of service. This will provide a customer about 140 kilowatt hours of electricity per year.

The $250,000 solar or photovoltaic (PV) generating facility will produce 28.4 kilowatts (kW) of electricity at peak solar conditions. Coordination Center site near Ann Arbor.

Of all the recent major-league baseball stadiums built in the United States, the Tiger Stadium project will be financed by the most private dollars. In addition, it will be the only major-league ballpark to not require an increase in taxes to generate funding.

The Michigan Strategic Fund, created by law in 1984, operates several business finance programs and supports a variety of research centers. The nine-member board decided last February to change the fund's focus to assist Michigan communities in infrastructure improvements, clearing and assembling land for economic development projects.

The resolution approved by the board makes the following provisions:

No casino revenues can be used until the City of Detroit and Tiger Baseball Club demonstrate evidence of financing and legal authorizations.

All financing must be in place by the end of this year and stadium construction started by April 1, 1996.

The City and Tigers must sign a long-term lease of 15 years.

If any party revokes its funding commitment prior to the completion of construction, the State reserves the right to revoke its funding.

Casino revenues can be used for public infrastructure improvements and land acquisition. No dollars can be used towards construction of the stadium.

"Keeping the Tigers in

downtown Detroit is a major victory for the City," said Rothwell. "The stadium will help revitalize a distressed area and attract thousands of people downtown."

Paroles violated

Career criminals go on crime sprees

By IVAN HELFMAN
MCN Staff Writer

Despite the passage of tough sentencing laws, which is opposed to take career criminals off the streets for good, lenient parole boards are allowing some dangerous criminals to run amok.

Unfortunately, the laws are not enforced.

The problem is serious in California, where parolees have committed 11 murders since 1992.

But the problem also exists in Wayne County, where parole laws are also routinely ignored.

For example, take the case of Kevin Whittaker, who was convicted for breaking into a Second Street home in Belleville in 1992 while on parole. At the time of the break-in, Whittaker had a long record: four felony and two misdemeanor convictions.

Despite the criminal pattern and the 20 unserved years remaining on his last sentence, he was paroled. Each time he was paroled, he committed another crime and received a new trial instead of having his parole revoked and returning to jail, said George Ward, Wayne County's chief assistant prosecutor.

"You can't get the parole board to take anybody back," said Ward.

"I was at a recent revocation hearing at Western Wayne County prison, where the parole board failed to revoke the parole of a parolee who had failed eight straight drug tests. Typical. There's never an effort to revoke parole until the parolee commits another felony."

"Every criminologist in the country says that the only thing that deters crime is swift and certain punishment," he said. "Punishment is not swift when a convict, who violates parole by committing a felony, is allowed to remain free while awaiting another trial. Such unnecessary trials cost Wayne County $6-$10 million per year."

Under a 1988 Michigan law, the parole board is supposed to revoke parole and require a repeat felon to serve out the remaining maximum time on his sentence. However, ignoring the law, the Department of Corrections has asked boards and courts not to impose the maximum time. To only require repeat felons to serve out the time remaining on their minimum sentence plus their new minimum.

DOC bureaucrats argue that maximum time is too harsh.

"As a practical matter, you can't get parole revoked unless you obtain a new felony conviction because prison authorities desire to disgorge prisoners from their overcrowded prison and not take back anybody unless they absolutely have to," said Ward.

"For the last 30 years or more, all governors -- Democrat or Republican -- have issued early prison release orders."

Michigan's prison population has grown from 12,000 to 40,000 during the last decade, Ward said.

To enforce Michigan's law requiring parolees convicted of felonies to serve their maximum sentence, Ward won a Circuit Court lawsuit against DOC. The lawsuit sought to compel the prison bureaucrats to make career criminal Gregory Young, who had racked up 14 convictions, including seven felonies, serve out his maximum times after violating his parole.

"Young, who mostly operates in Wayne County, has 47 unused years remaining from previous sentences," said Ward. "He has been convicted of dangerous crimes, such as armed robbery, aggressive assault, and possession and delivery of hard drugs."

But DOC continues to oppose Ward's efforts to throw the book at Young, and has appealed the lower court's decision to require Young to serve his previous maximum sentence.

"The public is unaware of what's going on," said Ward. "It only knows that felons get convicted and receive a long sentence. Nobody pays attention to what parole authorities do. The most shocking example is the Young case."

Ward proposes to handle parole violators differently. Violators would have an administrative hearing, costing the state only $500. The average Wayne County trial costs $5,000.

Whenever a criminal warrant is requested by a police officer, the prosecutor's office would check to see if the suspect is a parolee. If so, the suspect would be taken to an administrative tribunal for a short hearing instead of to court to begin a drawn-out process.

"The matter could be wrapped up in five days," said Ward. "Due process would be followed."

As a result of his conflict with DOC, Ward is urging the state legislature to pass "truth in sentencing" and "determinate sentencing" laws.

"Truth in sentencing" would guarantee that convicts do not receive early paroles.

"I support the 'truth in sentencing' bill and am developing legislative guidelines right now," said State Sen. Bill Van Regenmorter (Grand Rapids-R), chairman of the senate's judiciary committee.

Doves' status remains as song birds

In response to thousands of calls and letters from the people of Michigan, State Representative James Mick Middaugh, chairman of the House Conservation, Environment and Great Lakes Committee, announced today that the committee will not hold hearings on Senate Bill 529 during the current session of the legislature.

The senate bill, which would reclassify the mourning dove from a song bird to a game bird, was passed in late May by the Michigan Senate and referred to the House Conservation, Environment and Great Lakes Committee.

After hearing from thousands of Michigan residents, consulting with the House leadership, committee members and many House members, Chairman Middaugh has decided that S.B. 529 will remain in committee due to lack of support during this legislative session.

"After listening to the people of Michigan over the summer and talking with committee members and other legislators, I have come to the conclusion that even if we managed to get the bill on the floor, there would not be enough votes for it to pass the House," stated Middaugh.

Representative Middaugh, an avid sports person, has received thousands of calls and letters all summer from people who felt very strongly about this issue both pro and con.

"I asked the people of Michigan to contact my office with their views on this legislation. The response has been clear, whether be it through letters, calls, petitions, or polling," said Middaugh. "It is clear that this decision is the desire of the people of Michigan."

John James

John James grew up in and around New York. He studied and graduated from the American Academy of Dramatic Arts and before he had worn out a single pair of shoes making theatrical rounds he was snapped up to play Tom Bergman on the daytime special Search For Tomorrow. Nancy Allen's diverse acting career has afforded her the challenge of working with such elite directors as Steven Spielberg, Paul Verhoven, Brian DePalma, Hal Ashby and Robert Zemeckis.

Deadly encounter

Roddy McDowall searches for clues in "Dial "M" For Murder" suspense thriller

By MARGO DEWEY
MCN News Editor

It's spine-chilling and captivating.

The all new national tour of Dial "M" For Murder has arrived at the Fisher Theatre with one of the most talented actors in the world: Roddy McDowall.

Dial also stars John James, best known for his role as Jeff in the television series Dynasty, and Nancy Allen who mesmerized audiences with her role as the high school brat in Carrie and as a gusty, relentless partner in Robocop.

The murder mystery tells the tale of a husband's plot to murder his wife. McDowall portrays the inquisitive police Inspector Hubbard.

The London native was born Sept. 17, 1928. Although he has had many hit movies and television roles in the U.S., McDowall had appeared in 22 films in England before he arrived in America in 1940.

In all, however, he has appeared in 132 feature films which include: How Green Was My Valley; Lassie Come Home; The White Cliffs of Dover; The Planet of the Apes; The Poseidon Adventure; Cleopatra; and Overboard which he also co-produced.

It appears McDowall has had a very easy climb up the ladder to stardom, but he said success takes a lot of hard work and is never easy, especially in show business.

"Success in this business has always been a treacherous profession," said McDowall. "It sort of pitfalls and changes in different fashions. There is the survival factor for any performer."

McDowall began acting when he was only 5 years old. He said he enjoys both the stage and film.

"I've enjoyed it all when it's good and for as long as it's good," said McDowall. "Some of the plays I particularly enjoyed working on would be Harvey and Camelot."

McDowall's Broadway career began in 1953 with Misalliance. Approximately 12 other New York productions followed including: No Time For Sergeants; Compulsion; The Fighting Cock (he won a Tony for this performance); Charley's Aunt; Otherwise Engaged; and The Tempest.

He has also appeared in more than 300 television productions since 1948. He won an Emmy for his performance in Not Without Honor.

What does he enjoy when he is not traveling around the world performing?

"Photography," said McDowall. "I love it. It's my second profession. I also enjoy gardening. I put anything in the ground that will grow."

Since the middle 1950s McDowall has been a very successful professional photographer chronicling the activities of hundreds of the most prominent figures in film, theatre, ballet, opera and literature.

His work has been displayed in Life, Look, Vogue, Architectural Digest, Harper's Bazaar, Good Housekeeping and The Ladies Home Journal.

His fans can expect to see him in the next few months on the screen in Truman Capote's The Grass Harp, Henry Jaglom's Last Summer In The Hamptons and Randal Kleiser's It's My Party.

"I love what I do, and I hope to continue as long as I can," said McDowall.

DIAL "M" FOR MURDER

Dial "M" creator earned $2,800 for film rights to unique play

By MARGO DEWEY
MCN News Editor

The creator of Dial "M" For Murder, Frederick Knott, was an Englishman who visited the U.S. in 1937 for the first time as a member of the Oxford-Cambridge tennis team which played against Harvard-Yale at Newport, Rhode Island.

While he was in Newport, Knott observed some of the social satisfactions enjoyed by top tennis players, and this helped him create the character of Tony Wendice in Dial which is portrayed by John James.

At the outbreak of World War II, Knott entered the British Army and served for six years, ending up as a major in the Artillery.

After the war he decided on a career as a dramatic writer and served a year as a trainee with the J. Arthur Rank Film organization in London.

Though he was beginning to earn a moderate living by writing film treatments, he decided that if he was ever to get anywhere, he would have to write a novel or play of his own.

This was the impetus for writing Dial "M" For Murder. He spent 18 months on it and then eight more months in offering it to several stage producers in London.

There were no takers. He was ready to forget the whole thing, when a friend's intercession resulted in his converting the play into a 90-minute television play which was shown over the one television channel in England, the government-owned British Broadcasting Corporation March 1952.

For this, he received the sum of 140 pounds or about $390, and he hoped that the broadcast would result in some interest from stage producers.

But, nothing of that sort occurred, although the broadcast received rave notices from the national press. There were, however, several small film offers, the highest bid coming from Sir Alexander Korda for 1,000 pounds or $2,800.

Knott finally sold the rights to Korda for $2,800. After the New York success of the play, Korda re-sold the film rights to Warner Bros. for $146,000 of which Knott received nothing.

Somewhat belatedly, a London producer who had seen the play on television offered to put it on the stage. This was James P. Sherwood who produced the play at the Westminster Theatre June 1952 where it scored an unqualified hit and ran for a year.

A made-for-television movie of Dial "M" For Murder was aired in 1981 starring Angie Dickinson, Christopher Plummer, Michael Parks and Ron Moody.

Will Belleville blow Wayne away?

Tigers are on explosive roll

By TOM MOORADIAN
MCN Staff Writer

Another week. Another Belleville blowout. So what's new? Is there no stopping the undefeated Tigers. Maybe. Maybe this is that week.

Five games into the 1995 campaign, and Coach Bob LaPointe and Belleville have blown their opponents off the gridiron. Their latest triumph came before a homecoming crowd Friday night. The Tigers subdued Woodhaven, 49-0.

But, now, the defending Mega Conference Red Division champs will have to contend with an improved Wayne Memorial which has strung together two straight victories after three consecutive losses and an upset of the state-ranked Tigers would ease the pain of the early losses.

Wayne coach Chuck Howton came to Belleville for the Tiger Homecoming Festivities, and LaPointe says that No. 6 will "be our biggest test of the season."

"They have some exceptional athletes, including an outstanding quarterback in Lorenzo Guess," said LaPointe. "This is going to be a match up that will go right down to the wire. I watched them against Wyandotte and they (Wayne) showed how tough they can play."

Howton says that Belleville is extremely quick and "their specialty teams are the best

They have some exceptional athletes, including an outstanding quarterback in Lorenzo Guess.

- Bob LaPointe

I've ever seen. Believe me, Belleville is going to be ready for us. There's a lot riding on this game."

Belleville crushed Woodhaven for its fifth victory as the Tigers, would you believe, scored on three punt returns! If there were a mercy rule in football as there is in baseball, the game should have been called after the first half when Belleville had a 35-0 lead.

Ian Gold continued to sparkle for Belleville as he chalked up No. 13 and No. 14 TDs on spectacular runs of 65 and 73 yards. Quarterback Nate Lewis also proved he could compete in cross country as he raced 65 yards for a touchdown.

Belleville's other prolific scorer, Joe Manuel, also tallied from 25 yards out. Manuel had 93 yards rushing for his eight carries.

Glenn pays the ultimate for 4th-quarter let down

By TOM MOORADIAN
MCN Staff Writer

Forget, if you will, the off-side penalty that nullified a Glenn point-after.

Forget, if you can, the roughing-the-kicker infraction that enabled Walled Lake Central to kick over and make the point-after that ended Westland John Glenn's four-game winning streak, 21-20.

But remember that coach Chuck Gordon and his Rockets paid the ultimate price for a fourth-quarter letdown that allowed Central to get back into the game with a pair of touchdowns.

Up 20-7 midway in the fourth quarter, the proverbial roof caved in on Glenn Friday night as the Rockets blew the lead and the game to their Western Lakes Division foes.

Now, with their backs up against the wall, Glenn is in a must situation with Farmington and Livonia Stevenson and must pray that someone gets the job done against Central. If there is a two-way tie between Central and Glenn for the Lakes Division, Central would get the nod to play in the championship game.

Farmington will visit Glenn Friday night as the regrouped (hopefully) Rockets prepare for their Homecoming festivities.

Glenn drew first blood against Central as quarterback Justin Berent polished off a 60-yard, 11-play drive with a QB sneak that put the Rockets up 6-0. With Steve Paling's successful kick for the point-after, it was a 7-0 Glenn game.

Central tied it at 7-7 midway in the second quarter on Matt Koschke's four-yard TD run which completed a 29-yard drive, eight-play series. Bill Kandilian nailed his first of three extra points.

Late in the third, the Westlanders got a break in the form of a turnover that wound up in Jay Jackson's hands. The speedy Glenn back raced 70 yards with the Central fumble and scored with 4:22 left in the quarter.

Paling again came through with his second point-after.

Then, in the fourth, Glenn appeared on its way to its fifth-consecutive victory when Berent scored his second TD from two-yards out. That came

Glenn runners win Alpena Invitational

By TOM MOORADIAN
MCN Staff Writer

Westland John Glenn runners dominated the men and women's races at the Alpena High Cross Country Invitational staged Saturday at Phelps Collins International Airport.

Glenn placed first thanks to the outstanding performances of Joe Wojtowicz and Marjorie Brooks who led runners from Alpena, Rogers City, Eaton Rapids, East Tawas, Oscoda, Flint Powers, Sault Ste. Marie and Charlevoix to the finish line.

Wojtowicz, a junior, covered the 5,000-meter sandy Collins' course in a superb 16:53 time, while Brooks toured the 3,000-meter course in 20:52 for her gold.

"Joe (Wojtowicz) was challenged most of the time by Alpena's premier runner," said Glenn coach Jess Shough, "but he managed to hold him off and win the meet."

Alpena's Chuck Peters got the silver for a 17:01 run.

Glenn's runners finished in the middle of the pack overall. The host, Alpena, won their own invitational title 44 points. Rogers City finished second with 81, followed by Eaton Rapids (109), Westland John Glenn (121), Tawas (138), Oscoda (175), Flint Powers, Sault Ste. Marie (180), Atlanta (286) and Charlevoix (300).

Wojtowicz and teammate, Chris Gillen, who finished fifth overall (17:26) were named to the all-Alpena Invitational Team. Other Glenn runners whose scores were counted in the final tally are: Tim Moore, 28th - 18:41; Mark Lovett, 30th - 18:53; Justin Keyes, 57th - 20:26.

"I felt the whole trip was worthwhile," Shough added. "It gave our runners an opportunity to compete against some of the best in the North. And the entire trip was beautiful."

In the junior high division, Westland also placed Scott Gillen among the top 10. Scott won the bronze with a 14:33 run for the two-mile.

Back in the Western Lakes, Lakes Division, however, the Rockets ran up against a veteran-packed North Farmington lineup and lost a 19-42 decision. Wojtowicz finished third against NF.

Glenn and cross-district rival, Wayne Memorial, were scheduled to meet on Tuesday at the Rocket course located in Central Park, behind the Westland City Hall.

On Tuesday, the Rockets will host their popular Freshmen-Sophomore Invitational which will bring together teams representing Redford Catholic Central, Northville, Garden City, Ypsilanti, Edsel Ford, Dearborn, Belleville and Glenn.

The men's race will begin at 4 p.m., followed by the women's division which should get off at about 4:45 p.m.

"It's a great invitational which allows some of the underclassmen to compete against their peers in the area," Shough said.

Young Tigers continue to take their lumps

By TOM MOORADIAN
MCN Staff Writer

A young and inexperienced Belleville cross country team continues to "take their lumps" in the Mega Conference, Red Division.

But second-year Tiger coach George Devore vows that "if these kids stick it out we will have an outstanding team in the near future.

"We're taking our lumps now," Devore added, "but these are young athletes who have a lot of potential."

Six of the nine Belleville runners are freshmen and are running up against such Class A powers as Monroe and Dearborn. Monroe crushed the Tigers 15-50, "slamming" their Red Division opponents.

Belleville will face Dearborn and Fordson today at 4 p.m. on Ford Field in Dearborn. Both are Red Division opponents.

At the Centerline Invitational, Belleville freshmen Josh Brandon and Steve Mar-osi turned in with their career-best times. Brandon was clocked in 18:43 for the 5,000-meters, which was good for a 59th-place finish. Marosi covered the distance in 22:51 for a 98th place.

Belleville will also compete in the Charger Invitational, scheduled for Saturday in Dearborn.

Title showdown

Robichaud, Willow Run play for all of SAC's football marbles

By TOM MOORADIAN
MCN Staff Writer

After defending champ, Robichaud's dramatic 32-24 victory over previously undefeated Highland Park on Saturday at Eastern Michigan University, there are only two teams with perfect SAC football records.

And, Friday night, there will be one: Take your pick - Robichaud or Willow Run?

The two SAC rivals will clash beginning at 7:30 p.m. to determine which will emerge with what may be the last SAC football crown. The two will be going their separate ways after the current season.

Both will carry an untarnished 3-0 record into the duel for the championship, and Robichaud coach Bob Yauck will face none other than former Romulus High football coach, Danny Henry who is the Flyers' coach this year.

"He (Henry) has a young and extremely quick team this year," said Yauck. "If we manage to contain their speed, we should do all-right."

As for playing for all of the proverbial marbles, Yauck added; "They know it and our kids also know it - the title is on the line."

But Robichaud just barely made it to the championship round. Highland Park had the champ on the ropes but couldn't come up with the knockout punch. The Parkers blew a 24-16 lead after tying the Bulldogs twice during the scramble (16-16 and 24-24).

The Bulldogs rallied for two TDs in the final eight minutes to pull out their third consecutive SAC win. For the tie, quarterback Raymond Cook marched Robichaud 62-yards and completed the final 15 with a handoff to Omar Speights who drove through the Parkers for the score.

A few seconds later, the senior Robichaud tailback also scored the two point conversion, making it a 24-all game.

Then, with three minutes left, Robichaud kicked off to the Parkers and managed to hold them deep in their territory for the series. Outside Robichaud linebacker Justine Knox came up with the play of the game when he managed to block the punt, and teammate Ronchil Thomason scooped up the loose ball and ran it to the Parker four before he was tackled.

Cook, on a QB sneak, took it in from there and Speights' two-point conversion gave the champs the victory.

Cook teamed up with split end Devron Gray on a 47-yard pass-run TD play in the first quarter with Speights getting the two-pointer that lifted Robichaud to an 8-0 lead in the first period. But H.P. came back with two spectacular TD runs - one each in the first two quarters to grab a 16-8 lead at intermission.

Speights accounted for 192-yards rushing on 39 carries and made all three conversions. Cook completed four of six passes for 86 yards and also rushed for 48 yards in 12 attempts.

"It was one of Cook's better games," said Yauck, who noted that backup QB Dashame Rious did not suit up because of a sprained ankle sustained during a pickup football match earlier in the week.

On defense, fullback Jason Malloy, who happens to be the nephew of basketball great and All-American Fred Smiley, turned in with an outstanding effort.

"Jason came up with a couple of big plays in the second half that stopped Highland Park drives," Yauck stressed. "And he blocked extremely well for Omar."

Malloy also is responsible for the Bulldogs' kicking game.

Glenn

after a 11-play series that covered 55 yards.

But, then the controversy set in. Although Paling successfully converted, officials detected encroachment and called for the reenactment of the play. This time, a bad snap sent the ball over the kicker's head and Berent went to retrieve it, but was tackled.

The tide turned immediately. Koschke ignited Central with his second TD of the game as he plowed over from the two after a 10-play, 60-yard drive. Kandilian drove in the point-after.

Glenn came back with a series that carried them to mid-field where Central, with three minutes left, gained possession. After two unsuccessful plays, Central QB Jason Whalen fired a pass to Chris Bryam who hauled it in and raced to the Glenn four before he was nailed.

Then, on the first play,

Whalen scored to tie the game at 20-all.

Then, the controversy exploded.

Kandilian's boot failed, but officials called roughing-the-kicker and he was given a second opportunity. He nailed it and gave Central the ultimate point that made the difference.

Jackson led the Rockets with 135-yards on 25 attempts, and Berent hit on two of seven passes for 25. Two of Berent's attempts were picked off, however.

Vikings win big for first-year grid coach

By TOM MOORADIAN
MCN Staff Writer

Five weeks into the 1995 high school football season, first-year Inkster High football coach Glenn Free has received his first victory.

"It's great, really great," said Free commenting on the win as he strolled off the Viking gridiron. "Winning is sure better than losing."

The Vikings trashed Ecorse 46-12 Friday afternoon before the home crowd to snap a four-game losing streak, and that one victory will ensure Inkster that it will not be the doormat of what may be the final Suburban Athletic Conference campaign.

Because SAC affiliates Willow Run and Robichaud have announced they will compete as independents next, the conference is in jeopardy of dissolution.

Free said that he "is happy for the kids. They have worked so hard and when you're 0-4 you have a tendency to fold up the tent and just quit. These kids proved that they are not quitters."

The Vikings will attempt to make it two-straight at the expense of River Rouge, a team that Free respects.

"I scouted them last week, and they traditionally were a passing team. However, this team uses a Power I and likes to run right at you. We're going to have to be ready for them."

Free said he has added a "few wrinkles" to the offense which helped the TD output against the visiting Red Raiders last Friday.

"We have 19 players now, so we're able to move people around," said Free. "That's not a lot (of players), I know, but at least it's more than we have had before."

Inkster got on the scoreboard first against Ecorse as quarterback Vince Lee capped a 55-yard drive with a seven-yard touchdown pass to tight end Bobby Jones. Then, tailback Dante Williams scored on an around end run for the two-point conversion, lifting the Vikings to an 8-0 lead.

Williams came right back after an Ecorse turnover to score on a 65-yarder early in the second quarter and Isaac Hawkins accounted for the two-pointer, giving the hosts a 16-0 lead.

Roll

Belleville also got a TD from Rodney Komaromi, who scored on an up-the-middle 23-yard run. A Lewis-to-split end Robert Griffin pass also counted for a 11-yard TD play that capped a short drive.

Eric Harrison nailed six of the point-after, and Gary Vongerichten ran in a two-point conversion after a bad snap sailed over the kicker's head.

On Saturday, Wayne continued to build momentum as the Zebras won a 20-8 homecoming game at the expense of a highly-touted Wyandotte.

The host struck early as Guess and split end Richard Buford teamed up on a 70-yard pass-run play for the first score. The Zebras missed the extra point.

Wayne went up 14-0 before the Bears got their eight points. Guess again engineered a 60-yard drive that culminated in an 18-yard strike to Richard Rashad.

The Zebras opted for the two-point conversion and a Guess-to-Ian Turner got the job done.

Again in the fourth period, Guess cashed in on a broken play for the third TD. Back to pass and with his receivers covered, the junior QB decided to test the middle of the Wyandotte line. He ducked through the first line, maneuvered past the linebackers, then coasted the rest of the 35 yards for the touchdown.

Wayne tailback Dwayne Jackson piled up 85 yards in 15 attempts and fullback Matt McNea, a junior, carried eight times for 20 yards.

Senior linebacker Brant Tajiri and end Dave Taylor stood out on defense, while Guess and Rashad were a couple of reasons why Wyandotte had problems generating any yardage in the secondary.

Team spirit

New Wayne soccer team off to a winning start this season

By LORI GILLESPIE
MCN Staff Writer

Their record is 2-2-1. Not bad for a team which was not in existence last year.

Wayne Memorial now has a boys soccer team.

Coach Larry Brenner said, "I am very impressed with this team. I keep telling them if they keep working hard, they will get better as the season goes on."

Now in mid-season, the team may have realized their potential.

"I expected them to be a .500 team this year," Brenner stated, "but, they may actually be better. We are getting ready to play the same teams we have already seen in the first half of the season. All of the games were very close, so we should do OK."

On Sept. 27, the Zebras faced off with the team from Taylor Truman.

"In the first half, we played terrible," Brenner said. "At half-time, we were losing 2-0. The boys seemed to be playing very lackadaisical. We talked about it during half-time, and they came out and played to their potential, scoring three goals in the process."

The final score of the match was 3-2.

In their first season, several members of the team have become stand-outs. Brenner is impressed by his whole team, but his strongest players are junior Nick Tucker, a defender; freshman Ken Raupp, a mid-fielder; Jason Bostwick, a junior who plays both forward and defense; and junior Clint Nemeth, a forward. Another member of the team who has done a good job impressing the coach is senior Jason Wallace. "Jason is our goal keeper. He never played soccer before this year, and he's doing a super job," Brenner said.

The captains for the young team are Bostwick, Nemeth, Tucker, and junior, Jason Pinard.

The Zebras are in the White division this year. "We're a first year team, so they put us in this division," Brenner said. "They don't want to put us up against the big guns right away because we'd get slaughtered."

"I am real happy with how the guys are playing. They are working together, and everything will eventually gel into place. The second half will be better," Brenner promised.

When we say we screen our doctors, it's not a slogan and it's not just some routine examination, either. This is a procedure we take very seriously. After all, your health is at stake here. So, before any doctors become Blue Care Network doctors, before they ever examine one single patient, they must first survive a very detailed examination themselves.

Here's what it takes. First, all doctors (personal care physicians and specialists) are reviewed against very specific written criteria. (Quality of care is what we're measuring here.) In addition, an on-site inspection is conducted by specially trained staff and results are reviewed by Blue Care Network doctors in the area.

Patient satisfaction surveys are conducted by a professional, independent research company. Here, we ask patients to evaluate their doctor's technical skills as well as the basic level of service and care.

And, Blue Care Network works with its personal care physicians to ensure that quality standards are met.

Finally, Blue Care Network itself is reviewed for quality by a national industry watchdog association.

Oh, and after all these standards have been met, the doctors selected have the pleasure of going through this process all over again every two years for as long as they're with us.

Now, that is a tall order to fill. But if we're going to take the guesswork out of selecting a doctor, we should try our hardest to provide you with a sizable list of quality personal care physicians and specialists. It's as simple as that.

Romulus Eagles finding life difficult in the Mega League

By LORI GILLESPIE
MCN Staff Writer

The Romulus Eagles girls basketball team lost a hard fought battle against the Taylor Kennedy Eagles. The final score of the game was 45-37. This pushes Romulus record to 2-7, in their first year in the Mega league.

According to Romulus coach Peter Hill, "We're not playing up to par. There are some reasons for this. We have a loss of key personnel due to several reasons: jobs, other sports and loss of interest. Plus, we are a very young team, with only three seniors. I see us improving because of adjustments I have made and will continue to make."

The Sept. 28 game began good for Romulus, who pretty much dominated the first three quarters of the contest.

The opening tip-off was won by Taylor, but it was Romulus who struck first, scoring the first four points of the game. Brandi Huggins, at 6 feet, 2 inches, did most of the scoring throughout the game. She scored 10 points in the first quarter. Melissa Plave also scored, with a nice three point basket. Romulus' defense was also in gear, holding Kennedy to only eight points in the quarter.

In the second quarter, Romulus was outscored by Kennedy 9-7, yet the Eagles clung to their lead, with baskets coming from Huggins (2), Plave (2) and Nicole Laskaska (3). Romulus lead with a score of 20-17 at half-time.

The Eagles came back with a vengeance in the second half, yet Kennedy refused to give up.

Huggins opened the scoring in the third quarter, with 10 points before the quarter was over. Plave scored two points,

After the girls were sent to their designated locker rooms, each team was assessed a technical foul. Huggins scored Romulus' first point of the quarter on the foul.

and Cleatrice Todd scored two on a foul. At the end of three, the score was 34-30 in Romulus' favor.

Taylor Kennedy swooped in for the kill during the fourth quarter, tying the score 34-34 at 5:16, and never looking back.

At 2:41, Romulus' Tomery Izobo and a Taylor player were disqualified from the game after a pushing match between the two girls erupted into a fight. You expect this type of thing in professional hockey, but not in girls high school bas-

Todd and a Kennedy player began arguing with each other as Todd claimed name-calling from her opposition. Each girl received scoldings from their respective teammates, and play resumed with Plave scoring one point on the foul shot. This ultimately became the final score registered for the Romulus team, as Taylor won.

After the game, Hill said, "I thought the girls played well. We had a starter who didn't play. I thought we could pull it out, but we didn't."

Olympic hopefuls continue to pursue their dream

By MARGO DEWEY
MCN News Editor

If the saying "practice makes perfect" needs any kind of explanation, all one has to do is observe the talent of Westland Olympic hopefuls Danielle and Steve Hartsell. The brother and sister team continue to refine their skills on the ice. Within less than a year of their first interview with Michigan Community Newspapers, it is evident that they are on their way to stardom.

Their goal is to be on the 1998 Olympic skating team. Recently they competed in their first senior international program in Germany for the Nebel Horn trophy, and they placed eighth.

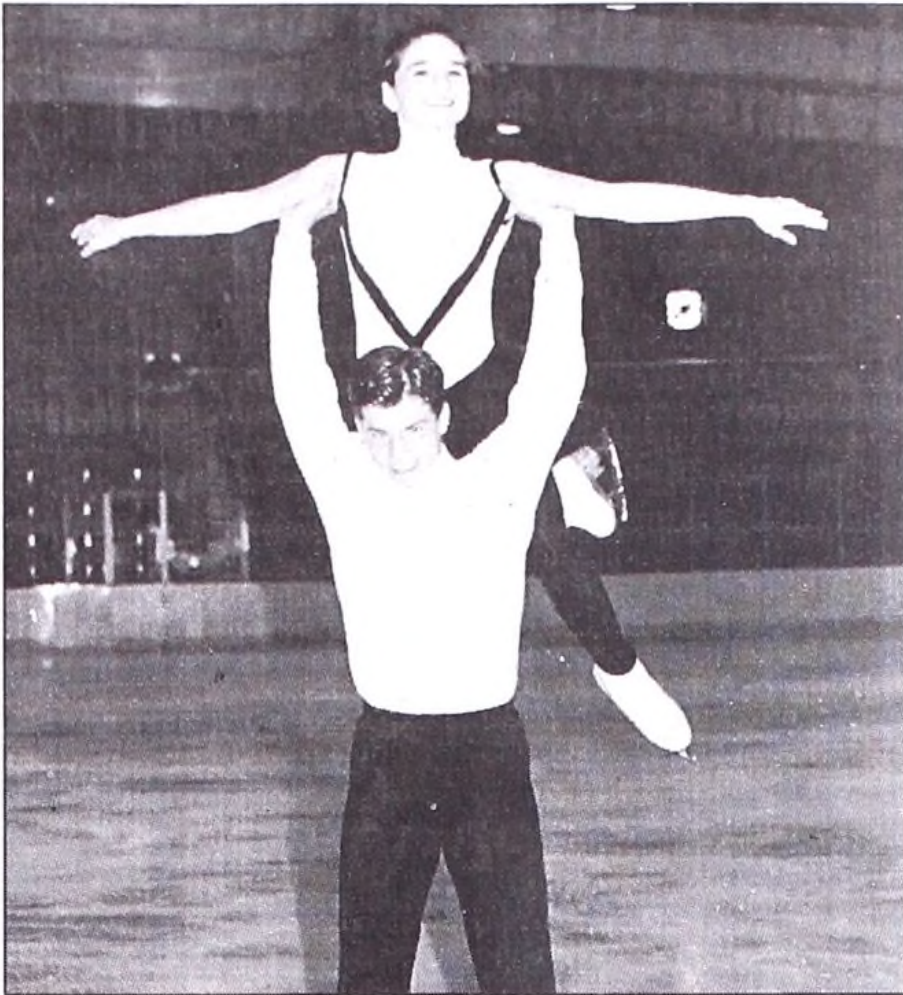

"It was tough," said Steve Hartsell. "The team that won was fourth at the U.S. Nationals. The team that was second had one member who was 12th in the world with their partner. It was our first competition for the year so we learned a lot from it."

The dynamic duo skated to Carmen for their short program. For their long program, they entertained the audience in Germany with songs from the movies Speed and Rudy.

"We prepared all summer for that competition," said Danielle Hartsell. "The first few months we put together the program, and the last few months we went into an extensive training program for the competition."

The Hartsells are competing today, Oct. 5 in the Junior World trials in Colorado Springs.

"There will be five teams competing, but only three teams will be selected to go to

Steve Hartsell and his sister Danielle make a winning team. MCN

As long as we want it and enjoy it, I know we can get it.

- Danielle Hartsell

Junior Worlds competition in Australia," said Danielle Hartsell. "We're ranked first right now. We have been to Junior Worlds the last two years."

If the Hartsells can grab the title in Australia, they will become the Junior World champions which will give them the cutting edge to being on the Olympic team.

Both brother and sister attend John Glenn High School. Danielle is a freshman and her brother is a senior. Besides having an exceptional talent on the ice, the Westland residents are also scholastic achievers.

"When I graduate I plan to go to college," said Steve Hartsell. "I plan to study either sports management, sports medicine or physical therapy."

Danielle Hartsell said it takes a lot of stretching and exercising to maintain the strength needed to skate every day. MCN photo by Kimberly Woloskie Staying on top of everyone else trying to reach the Olympic standing takes more than just hope.

It takes a lot of perseverance, dedication and willingness to commit four hours a day, six days a week to practicing a maneuver on the ice over and over.

"I'm enjoying it a lot more now that I'm higher up in the ranking," said Danielle Hartsell. "But, there is also a lot more pressure involved. You have a lot more to learn."

And the Hartsells have learned quite a bit which includes how to improve their technique in the last year. They are stronger, faster and wiser.

"When we were juniors, there were more minor things that could be junior quality," said Danielle Hartsell. "Now, as we are entering the senior level, everything down to your stroking has to be perfect."

"For juniors, we were the only team doing at least three hard tricks while everyone else was doing one or two," said Steve Hartsell. "When we went overseas to compete, everyone was doing all that we were doing if not harder tricks. So it's much more competitive as seniors."

Do the Hartsells believe they can make it to the Olympics?

"As long as we want it and enjoy it, I know we can get it," said Danielle said.

Romulus girls tennis team continues to improve strategy

By LORI GILLESPIE
MCN Staff Writer

"We're getting better. That's what I'm looking for, just like any other coach," Romulus girls tennis coach Dan Stearn said. "We're laying a good basis for the future."

With a record of 3-6-1, Romulus isn't exactly tearing up the courts. But what do you expect from a team in their first season in the Mega League?

Even though you can't tell from their record, their coach says they are improving.

"There is a lot of improvement. Some of the girls I thought would be playing low doubles are now playing singles. Melanie Tomchick and Becky Marz have both really improved. They are coming along real well. Jennifer Kusibab has a 10-3 record at number one singles. She is one of the top players in our league," Stearn continued, "Our number one doubles, Linda Ryzner and Angie Terry are playing very well. And number two doubles, Casey Smith and Stacey Luzak haven't gotten many wins, but they have shown a lot of improvement. I could go on about the whole team."

Stearn said he is looking forward to a somewhat easier week with matches against Redford Union and Annapolis coming Oct. 2 and 4. "They should be easier than the week before, playing Belleville and Allen Park - the top two teams in the league," Stearn said.

In their match with Belleville on Sept. 25, the coach said, "They really beat up on us. Belleville is the best team in the league, and they showed it. Our number four singles, Becky Marz, was the only one to win."

'Prelude' opens Hilberry season

By RACHAEL LEWIS
MCN Staff Writer

Wayne State University's Hilberry Theater opened its 33rd season with Prelude to a Kiss by Craig Lucas.

The play will run through Nov. 30 in rotating repertory with Shakespeare's A Midsummer Night's Dream and Eugene O'Neill's Beyond the Horizon. Prelude to a Kiss is the story of the head-over-heals romance of Peter (David Haig) and Rita (Ali Rogers). The antics start up when Peter discovers that Rita isn't the same after the wedding.

The puzzling change in Rita's behavior begins began after a mysterious old man kisses her at their wedding. To Peter's amazement, Rita begins to take on some unusual traits -- those of the old man -- and Peter later finds that the old man has taken on Rita's characteristics.

The entire cast was wonderful; David Haig and Ali Rogers were exceptional as the two leading characters as were the supporting players. Although everyone was delightful, the stage was stolen by Greg Trzaskoma as the old man, who was truly the key to the whole play.

Father targets advertisers through new advocacy group

By KIMBERLY WOLOSKE
MCN Staff Writer

One area father is tired of the "brainwashing effects" he feels advertisements have on today's youth.

Recognizing the need for action, Peter Narsisan has organized DAADD, Dads Against Alcohol and Drug Destruction.

"We're not out to ban alcohol or the advertisement of alcohol products, we are out to stop the reckless portrayal of young people in television commercials and on billboards that convince kids life can only be great if alcohol is involved," said Narsisan.

The retired auto worker says drunk driving didn't strike a cord with him until he met a father that had lost his son to a drunk driver. Narsisan says some parents don't know how alcohol is affecting their children until it's too late.

"Companies peddling tobacco and alcohol, legal or not, are not taking responsibility for the process that follows the sale of their products," said Narsisan.

"When they target children they're demonstrating their lack of accountability in young people's lives."

Narsisan says he and the Mothers Against Drunk Driving, MADD, organization will work hand-in-hand to try and address these issues. "MADD initially involved mothers in the fight against drinking and driving. DAADD is going to try and get fathers off their butts and get them involved in the process collectively," said Narsisan.

"We want to encourage everyone, even people without children to take a stand against the destruction drugs and alcohol are having on our youth."

The DAADD organization will host regular meetings at different locations throughout the city featuring guest speakers and active group participation.

Narsisan feels MADD does a great job of educating young people in the classroom, however, he is hoping DAADD advocates will educate the state's legislation that the laws need to be changed before further destruction occurs.

"Year after year big companies are spending billions of dollars on advertising that is essentially killing our children," said Narsisan. "They are profiting on young people drinking and then becoming alcoholics because they think the products will solve their problems, make their life great, just like they see in the ads."

If you would like more information on DAADD or are interested in attending a group meeting, call 421-1966.

Monroe shows Romulus why it's ranked in state

By TOM MOORADIAN
MCN Staff Writer

Monroe erupted for three touchdowns in the second quarter and went on to crush Romulus 45-14 in their first-ever football meeting in a Mega Conference, Red Division game Friday night.

Although the two teams fought to an 8-8 tie in the opening stanza, Monroe, ranked third in the state Class A polls, overpowered the Eagles the rest of the way.

"They just wore us down," said Romulus first-year coach Mark Woodson. "They have a lot of talent on this team."

Romulus matched Monroe's eight points late in the first quarter when Eagle senior quarterback Ryan Evans engineered a 70-yard drive that culminated with a keeper that opened the doors to a two-yard TD.

Evans also scored the two-point conversion on a sneak.

In the third quarter, Evans scored what was the final Romulus TD after he rolled out and managed to elude two Monroe defenders, which gave Jamal Bailey time to get free in the secondary for 25-yard TD pass.

Despite the pressure from the Monroe defense, Evans managed to complete nine of 16 passes for 180 yards. Flanker Roy Chambers accounted for five of those receptions.

Running back Fred Russell rushed for 65 yards on seven carries.

Despite the lopsided score, it could have been worst for the Eagles if it were not for the performances of linebacker Keith Miller and Aaron Stenngi, who stood out on defense.

Romulus returns to Red Division competition at 7:30 p.m. Friday when they travel to Lincoln Park. The meeting also is the first-ever in conference play for the two rivals.

Wrong time to commit 14 turnovers

By TOM MOORADIAN
MCN Staff Writer

It was the wrong time and the wrong team to commit a single turnover, let alone six of them.

But that's what Plymouth-Salem did against Western Lakes, Lakes Division title hopeful, Livonia Stevenson, which turned the Rocks' miscues into a 27-6 victory that kept the Spartans in the thick of the race.

"I don't know what to say," said Salem coach Tom Moshimer. "It looked like we had solved our problems, but when you commit 10 fumbles (the Rocks recovered six of them) and four interceptions, it's tough to win a ball game after that."

Salem held a 6-0 first-quarter lead after quarterback Nathan Gray strung together a midfield drive that ended with the junior QB's sneak over the Spartan goal line from the one.

Though the kick for the extra point was wide, Salem still enjoyed a 6-0 lead.

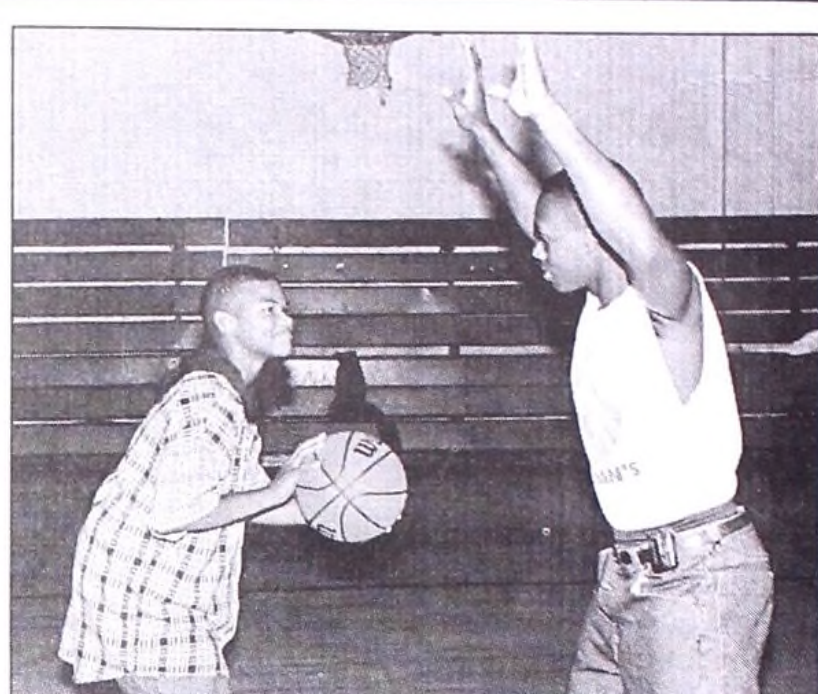

But Stevenson junior tailback Gade Clark came alive and scored his first of two three-yard TDs in the second quarter. He tied the game after his first TD, then the Spartans grabbed a 7-6 lead with the conversion.

Clark also scored on a 56-yard punt return that sealed the Spartans' fourth win in five starts. (They are 3-1 in their division).

Moshimer said that the offense must improve 100 percent if the Rocks are to stay on the same field with a very explosive Walled Lake Central Friday night.

"Central has a very explosive offense," said Moshimer, who scouted the Central-Glenn game last week. "They will not quit. And if we keep turning over the ball like we did last week, it's going to be a long evening."
